TURKS CLAIM VICTORY

Meanwhile Peace Envoys Are in London Waiting to Resume Negotiations to Settle Strife.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Constantinople, Dec. 18.—Advices to the War Department from the commander at Jannina report that the Turkish forces won a victory at that point over the Greeks capturing field guns, rifles and many munitions of war. The Greeks lost four hundred dead and 126 wounded.

London, Dec. 18.—The plenipotentiaries of the Bulgarian allies came to gether today in informal meeting, to decide on their plan of action in the eventuality of Turkey declining to accede to their demands.

Dr. Danef, leader of the Bulgarian delegation in the course of a conversation is quoted as saying: "It on Thursday the Ottoman delegation is not satisfied we will break off negotiations and meet again at the Tobataja line. This will be the end of Turkey."

Servia took an important step in the direction of peace today at intimating her willingness to leave the matter of an outlet on the Adriatic sea in the hands of the Great European powers. The decision of the Serbian government in taking this attitude which is a perfectly moderate one knowing that her claims and sympathies will be considered by the European powers, and it is expected that negotiations between the nations will be rushed.

Outside Mediation.

The consensus of opinion here, however, is that the present obstacle will be surmounted by the delegates and that the real danger will be over the future possession of the fortress of Adrianople. As for as can be seen at present only mediation by an outside power can solve this problem.

Incidentally under the alphabetical arrangement of the presiding officers of the peace conference tomorrow's chairman should be the leader of the Greek mission. It is assumed that a substitute will be chosen pending the settlement of the controversy.

Policy of Russia.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 18.—"There is no ground for suspecting Russia of selfish designs in the Balkans," was the statement of Premier Kokovsov in the duma today, in the course of a speech on the policy of the "Russian" government. He said that as the great Slavonic and Orthodox power Russia could not be indifferent as to whether the Balkan peoples obtained better conditions of existence and thus avert danger complications in the future.

"The Russian government hopes that the efforts of the powers to bring about solidification of action on the Balkan question will be successful," he said.

PLAN FOR RELIEF OF OVERWORKED JUDGES

L. J. Nash Suggests Several Changes in Laws Governing Wisconsin Circuit Courts.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—There will be no more overworked circuit judges in Wisconsin if the plan suggested by L. J. Nash, revisor of the statutes of the state, is fulfilled. A bill embodying this change has been prepared by him for introduction in the next legislature.

The law creating the circuit courts is entirely overhauled by this bill, many obsolete sections have been stricken out, and the culminating feature of the new material suggested provides for organizing the circuit judges into an administrative board empowered to ascertain the localities where there are stresses of work, and provide for such places additional judges from localities that can spare them.

Board to Make Rules.

"The board is also empowered to make for all the circuits those rules that have heretofore been made by the judges separately," says Mr. Nash in his revision notes. In conjunction with this new section proper paragraphs are revised in order to provide for the payment of the state of expenses of judges sent out of their circuits to hold court; also two new sub-sections are added requiring the clerk of the circuit administrative board with such information as may be called for. The salary of the clerk will be stipulated by the legislature should the bill pass.

Other Revisions.

The bill also provides for the appointment of court commissioners in every circuit, prescribing a uniform rule on the subject and specifying the functions of court reporters. Many sections of the present law are revised and condensed. The hour for the beginning of each term of a circuit court is prescribed, and all provisions for special terms, or terms at which no jury is called, are stricken out, because the presiding judge will always on a resumption of the public session if there is any business requiring it. All the circuits are reduced to absolute uniformity as to term, and special terms, except as to the number of them. All counties are allowed two terms each year, a few are allowed three, and Milwaukee is allowed four.

GOVERNMENT BEGINS
ARGUMENT TO JURY
IN DYNAMITE CASE

Attorney Noel Blames Scheming Politicians for McNamara Dynamite Plots in Opening Statement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 18.—"Politicians standing behind labor unions and the court" were blamed for the McNamara dynamite plots at the outset of the government's argument to the jury at the trial of the 40 accused bomb plotters today.

Pronouncing the series of explosions scattered over the country as a conspiracy "more dastardly and more threatening to society than the crime of an individual," James W. Noel, special assistant district attorney, told the jurors they were called upon to render verdicts in the most important trial in several years.

"Agonized crime has here appeared to an amazing degree," said Mr. Noel, "and it was carried on and it grew because locally the arm of the law failed. Had local authorities done their duty the conspiracy could not have spread, but it appears that politicians for obvious reasons stood between labor unions and criminals and the local courts."

"A strike of the iron workers was called, plain assaults became murderous assaults, then unchecked by the local courts and favored by politicians the criminals grew bolder and dynamite and nitro-glycerin were resorted to."

"The Los Angeles Times building was blown up at which time 21 persons were murdered. After that reckless disregard of life came a wanton desire to take life. Of the 100 explosions which occurred in the United States the government has proved that 82 explosions were on the property of the 'open shop' contractors, or firms which refused to recognize the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers."

PUBLISHER SUED BY STUDENT FOR LIBEL

Manager of Varsity Badger Seeks $10,000 Damages From George Banta of Menasha.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oshkosh, Wis., Dec. 18.—Action has been started in the circuit court of Winnebago county by Edward T. Kohl of Madison, against George Banta of Menasha, libel being alleged. The complaint avers that Kohl is a student attending the university of Wisconsin and that Banta who is connected with the George Banta Publishing Company libeled him in a letter written to University. He wants damages in the sum of $10,000. According to the plaintiff Kohl was elected manager of the 1913 Badger, a university publication and Charles E. Wells was chosen editor. The contract for printing the Badger was awarded to W. M. Castle, printer of this city. The complaint alleges that Banta in his letter charged Kohl and Wells with attempting to do things connected with the business management.

NEW RATE OF TAXING CORPORATIONS URGED

Important Change in Income Tax Law Recommended by State Tax Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—A progressive rate on the income of corporations similar to that which applies to individuals, but starting at double the rate until it reaches 6 per cent, is the principal change in the income tax law recommended by the state tax commission in its annual report.

Several other recommendations are made clearing up obscure points in the law, relating to deduction of dividends of corporations making their money largely outside the state, and to the rental of property outside the state as a source of income taxable under the law.

There is no change suggested in the present law which taxes the estimated rental value of houses occupied by the owner.

The commission believes there should be an amendment to provide that members of a partnership may draw salaries the same as employees of any corporation.

"The rates for corporations have proved unsatisfactory in practice," declares the commission. "Under this section the progression is not based upon the amount of income, but upon the ratio which a taxable income bears to the assessed valuation of the property which produced it. The rate ranges from one-half of 1 per cent where the ratio of taxable income to assessed income does not exceed 1 per cent, to 6 per cent where such ratio is more than 11 per cent. It follows that of two corporations having exactly the same taxable income, one may be required to pay twelve times as much as the other. The basic idea of income taxation is adjustment of burden upon ability to pay, and the amount of taxable income would seem to be the best test of such ability. The economic soundness of the scheme for determining corporation rates is therefore very doubtful."

MORGAN NOT CALLED BEFORE COMMITTEE TO TESTIFY TODAY

MORGAN NOT CALLED—Financier, However, Will Probably be Summoned Tomorrow as Witness in the "Money Trust" Investigation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Dec. 8.—J. Pierpont Morgan was not called to the witness chair when the house "money trust" investigating committee resumed work today. Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, said he was not prepared to examine Mr. Morgan at once as he had a number of other witnesses scheduled to appear. Mr. Untermyer said that because of the lack of witnesses Mr. Morgan might be called late this afternoon for a brief examination, but that he thought it unlikely he would take the stand before tomorrow.

Elaborate charges were presented to the house "money trust" committee giving lists of "interlocking directors" in a number of leading financial and industrial institutions. Also a table "showing affiliations of J. P. Morgan and Company, Guarantee Trust Company, Bankers' Trust Company, First National Bank and National City Bank and other corporations to interlocking directorates."

This table shows the affiliations of 13 selected financial institutions. The first members and directors whose affiliations are thus shown number 150. In the aggregate they hold 385 directorships in 41 banks and trust companies having total resources of $3,832,000,000 and total deposits of $2,334,000,000. 50 directorships in 11 insurance companies having total assets of $2,646,000,000; 155 directorships in 31 railroad systems having a total capitalization of $12,193,000,000, and a total mileage of 163,200; six directorships in two express companies and four directorships in one steamship company with a combined capital of $245,000,000, and gross income of $97,000,000; 98 directorships in 23 producing and trading corporations having total capitalization of $2,683,000,000 and total gross annual earnings in excess of $1,145,000,000; 48 directorships in 19 public utility corporations having a total capitalization of $2,826,000,000 and total gross annual earnings in excess of $428,000,000.

In all 746 directorships in 134 corporations having a total resource of capitalization of $25,825,000,000.

Was Summoned Later.

Mr. Morgan went to the stand later in the "money trust" investigation this afternoon and in answer to various questions told of the composition of the firm with which he was connected.

In answer to a question as to whether his firm did a general banking business in New York the financier replied, "We try to." Mr. Morgan explained that his firm did not belong to the clearing house, but hearing its own checks over its counter.

"Have you accounts from interstate corporations?"

"With any corporation we think is good," said Mr. Morgan.

The committee at 3:02 p. m. took a recess until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock when Mr. Morgan again will take the stand.

FIFTEEN DEFENDANTS
FOR SINGLE MURDER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Winchester, Ky., Dec. 18.—A series of trials that will be watched with interest all over the country are about to begin in the Clark Circuit Court here. The trials result from the assassination of former Sheriff Ed. Callahan and will mark another chapter in Breathitt County feudal history. Callahan was riddled with rifle bullets as he stood in the door of his store one day last spring. His assassination caused no surprise in the neighborhood, for the former sheriff had long been a conspicuous figure in the language of the mountaineers he had been a "marked man" ever since he was tried and acquitted nearly ten years ago on the charge of having instigated the assassination of James B. Marcum at Jackson.

Fifteen men are under indictment for the Callahan murder. Separate trials have been asked for each defendant and the probabilities are that it will be several months before all of the cases are disposed of. The first to be tried will be Asbury McIntosh, who is accused of being the ringleader in the conspiracy to murder Callahan. The prosecuting attorneys declare they have a good chance to convict McIntosh, and with him proved guilty, they will have sufficient evidence to gain a conviction in the case of each of the other fourteen defendants.

SIX SUFFRAGETTES
CONTINUED MARCH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Ossining, Dec. 18.—Braving the rain, the six survivors of the company of suffragettes marching from New York to Albany hearing a message to Gov. Sulzer prepared to resume their journey today. Stiffness of joints and blistering feet, stoically denied yesterday, were this morning frankly acknowledged by the women when they mustered for the start. Nevertheless the little band followed their leader, Miss Rosalie G. Jones, as she called them together on the Albany post road.

Peachkill, twelve miles away, was the destination of the day's journey. The roads were muddy, the sky overcast, and the air misty when the march was resumed.

BASSETT AND ECHLIN
COMPANY DISSOLVES

Articles of Dissolution of One of Oldest Janesville Manufactories Filed Today.

Articles of dissolution for the Bassett and Echlin company, one of the oldest manufacturing companies of Janesville, were filed at the office of the register of deeds today. The articles are signed by Herbert J. Cunningham, president, and Richard J. Hart, secretary of the concern and specify that the action favoring dissolution was taken at a special meeting of the stock holders on Dec. 16, 1912, at which 518, or all the shares, voted in the affirmative.

This brings officially to an end one of the oldest harness manufacturing establishments in the west. It was founded in 1868 by H. F. Bliss, now editor of the Gazette, and Adam Hayner. A year and a half later Mr. Bassett became a member of the firm which was then known as Hayner, Bliss and Company. In 1880 Mr. Echlin became a member and the business was continued under the name of Bassett, Bliss and Echlin. The building now occupied by the McNamara hardware store was erected and equipped especially for them under a long term lease. In 1888 Mr. Bliss bought out the Gazette and the harness firm was then known as Bassett and Echlin. They were later incorporated under the Wisconsin statutes and continued under that name until the fire a year ago wiped out their factory.

EKERN RECOMMENDS EXAMINATIONS FOR INSURANCE AGENTS

Insurance Commissioner Insists That Solicitors Should Be Qualified for Their Business.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 18.—A civil service examination of all candidates for appointment as agents to solicit any kind of insurance is the primary recommendation to the legislature made by Insurance Commissioner Herman L. Ekern of Wisconsin, in the annual life report of the department, issued today. Mr. Ekern declares that fair dealings with the public demand that "the state should insist that persons who hold agents' licenses shall have some degree of fitness and qualification for the transaction of the business and that persons who are obviously unfit and unequalled should be barred."

During the past year about 12,000 agents were licensed in the state, and even if the recommendation is adopted these men will continue on their own qualification without examination. Commissioner Ekern suggests that the examination might be given on questions to be prepared by a non-salaried board of persons experienced in life, casualty and fire insurance.

Public Needs Protection.

"To entrust the work to men who have betrayed their trust with other companies," says Commissioner Ekern, "or who are notoriously slow and unsatisfactory in accounting for funds handled by them, or who have little or no knowledge of the contracts they write, or how these contracts are affected by the conditions in any particular case, is an imposition upon the public who rightfully look to the state for protection in regard to their insurance."

The report of the commissioner relating to life insurance covers 154 companies and societies. It shows the total income of the department from the taxes and fees of these companies to be $550,461.73 for the calendar year 1911, and the total receipts for the six months ending June 30, 1912, as $931,280.52. The total salaries of employees of the department during the year amounted to $12,573.22.

Makes Recommendations.

Other suggestions for legislation are:

Policy Loans.—A law is recommended requiring that companies reserve the right to hold applications for loans sixty days in times of panic.

Promotion.—Attention is called to the law prohibiting the sale of insurance stocks on a commission basis of more than 10 per cent, and it is urged that this law be strengthened at the next session of the legislature.

Twisting.—Any attempt to induce policyholders to drop their insurance or certificates is condemned. The report states:

"In some quarters the present readjustments of fraternal societies have been made the occasion for special work among the members of such societies. No objection is raised to the solicitation of any member for insurance at any time his attention can be had. However, present circumstances may be exceptional, and caution may well be exercised that zeal for new business does not override the giving of proper consideration to the interest of the person solicited, or the necessity for absolute fairness toward his society."

Changes Not Advisable.

"Ordinarily, no person can be served by being induced to drop insurance he already has to make it possible for him to take other insurance. In any change, the insured, in the long run, has to bear the initial expense. It will be a very rare and exceptional case where any agent or deputy is justified in replacing other insurance with his insurance."

"Especially in the case where the society at present insuring such person is going through a readjustment to place itself upon an adequate and permanent basis, would such advice be very much misplaced. On a readjustment to a sound basis the member gets a better insurance without added initial expense, and often some share in an accumulation which, under a proper readjustment, will go to his benefit if he remains with the society. At the best, readjustment is fraught with difficulties. Every successful readjustment increases the general confidence in life insurance. Deputies and agents will serve their own interests, as well as the interests of members and the public, by having in mind all the time that it is their business to build and not to tear down."

WAREHOUSES PREPARE TO OPEN FOR SEASON

EARLY DELIVERY OF 1912 CROP IS BEING MADE TO A NUMBER OF DEALERS.

BEGIN WORK AT THREE

C. J. Jones and Son, F. S. Baines and T. E. Welsh Start Packing While Others Open on Monday.

Work of assorting and packing the 1912 tobacco crop has begun at the local warehouse, and will continue with increasing activity as the season progresses.

T. E. Welsh and F. S. Baines started operations at their respective warehouses this morning while the American Tobacco Company, Sanford Sovenhill and John Soulmán are preparing to begin on Monday with good sized forces.

First deliveries were made by farmers near the city last week and all the firms mentioned above have received considerable amounts yesterday and today and will receive large amounts toward the close of the week.

The recent moist weather has given the growers great opportunity to take down their crop and stripping is well under way in northern as well as southern sections of the state. The crop is practically all removed from the poles as this time and is in excellent condition for handling.

C. J. Jones and Son, opened their South Main street warehouse last Thursday and were the first to begin packing the 1912 crop in Janesville. They now have a force of twenty-eight and are planning to open a sorting room on North Main street with forty or fifty hands. They will receive the crop just as fast as they can handle it.

It is probable that there will be ten or twelve warehouses running full force by the first of the year. All the dealers are anticipating longer runs than usual owing to the fact that the crop is larger than last year and most of them have purchased rather heavily.

H. W. Scott, local manager for the American, stated that he expected a four or five months' run and that all the crop that could be handled with their present storage capacity would be received.

Mr. Baines, who began sorting today with a force of fifteen, said that the packing season would last well into the spring and summer months. He expects to increase his force to forty or fifty by the first of the year.

Mr. Welsh has a force of fifteen now at work and will take on additional help as the season progresses. The crop will be received just as it can be handled at the warehouse.

Mr. Soulmán and Mr. Sovenhill have been receiving tobacco in all sections of the state and are putting their warehouses in shape for opening on Monday with large forces.

Owing to the work of remodeling the Haskins and Schwartz warehouses on West Bluff street, that firm has not been in a position to receive any of the crop as yet. They are preparing to take in the first consignments between Christmas and the first of the year.

George H. Rumrill has received none of his purchases as yet but will begin operations the first of the year.

Most of the farmers are anxious to make deliveries as early as possible and are clamoring for early delivery dates. Checks for their early delivery material at the holiday season and local merchants report increased business already.

At the N. L. Carle warehouse the first consignments of the new crop will be received tomorrow and sorting operations will begin on Monday with a good sized force.

CELEBRATED GOLDEN WEDDING YESTERDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson of Milton Junction Entertained About Forty Relatives and Friends.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton Junction, Dec. 18.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hudson in this village was the scene of a happy gathering on Tuesday, Dec. 17th when forty relatives and friends responded to their invitations to make merry with them on their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Many near relatives from various states, who could not be present, sent expressions of their good wishes in suitable and beautiful gifts. The presents left as reminders of their good wishes were many and valuable, some of which were forty dollars in gold coins; gold rings; pins, brooches, sterling silver pieces, hand painted china, etc.
The relatives from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hudson and son from St. Lawrence, So. Dakota, and Mr. Chas. Hudson of Madison, Wis.
There were present eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren. One grand son and three great grand children were unable to be present. Only two of the guests, Mrs. Archie Hadden, a sister of the bride, and B. F. Hudson, brother of the groom, were present at the wedding fifty years ago.
The spacious living room was transformed into a dining room for the occasion, being decorated with the colors of yellow and green, while a large bouquet of yellow and white roses and a large wedding cake decorated in the prevailing colors embellished the long dining table. Dainty wedding cards bearing the inscription Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hudson, Dec. 17-1882, Dec. 17-1912 were placed by the plates.
At one o'clock the guests were seated at the table which seemed to grow under its load of good things, to which each guest did justice.
After dinner a refreshing hour was passed in social intercourse and music, furnished by the children and grand children, closing with the appropriate song, "Silver Threads Among the Gold."
The friends upon departing declared Mr. and Mrs. Hudson, though passing this significant mile stone, still capable of entertaining most royally.

Two Copies of Maps for Unit 2263 Received at Local Postoffice From Department at Washington.
Postmaster C. L. Valentine of this city yesterday morning received this from the postoffice department at Washington two maps showing the various parcels post zones from the local postoffices. The Janesville post office, is included in what is known as "Unit 2263," the territory to be covered by the parcels post being divided into unit areas. Large circles in red ink on the map indicate the eight zones surrounding the unit area in which the local postoffice is located. The maps are the only equipment for the establishment of the parcels post system in this city that have been received thus far, but parcels post guides and other equipment will be received from the department before the first of the year.

Stop That Cough In A Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by percolation from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts.

SPORT

Dan Daily, Newcastle, Pa., white hope, has such a big hand that a special make of glove is required for his ring engagements. It's about as big a hand as could grow on a human being. The gloves he wears when in action are like those Jeffries used to wear. Jeff had an abnormal fist, too. But whereas the boxing mitts were loose on the boiler-maker, they fit Daily as tightly as a kid glove.

Charles Comiskey says the South Side park will be packed when Frank Chance first brings his New York Yankees to the Windy City in 1913. Comiskey says he hopes that Hank O'Day and Mordca Brown, in the event of their being appointed American league umpires, be designated to officiate in that series.

Picking pennant winners is always a pleasant diversion, and although it's pretty early now to do that, the doers are already at it, and they're saying that Washington will win the American league honors next year. They like the Nationals' pitching and catching staff. Cashion seems to have a great future, and many think Johnson is the best hurler in the game today. Groom is another star. These three pitchers with a young team behind them and two good catchers to take care of the other end of the battery are selected as the pennant winning team of 1913.

President Charles Murphy of the Chicago Cubs, who wouldn't knowingly do a thing that would bring comfort to the American league, is said to have recently given himself several swift kicks. Why? The American league now has Frank Chance, one of the best managers in the game, all because Murphy asked waivers on him from the other National league clubs. It's a safe bet Murphy wouldn't do it again.

Ad Wolgast may be losing some of his ability as a fighter, but he's getting keener all the time as a real estate man. He recently sold four blocks of land on Washington boulevard in Los Angeles for $2,000 per acre—the land which he purchased three months ago for $2,000 an acre. Wolgast now owns $200,000 worth of property between Los Angeles and Venice, Cal. And besides, he has that farm in the vicinity of Cadillac, Mich.

Many American horsemen are showing concern over the rapidly with which wealthy Europeans are buying up our trotters. Within the last ten years hundreds of our trotting stars have been shipped abroad. At least one well informed horseman, Ed Tipton, has declared that unless the present movement is checked the American horse market will become a joke.

Just now, however, the breeding industry of the country is in such excellent condition that no great alarm should be felt. Of the horses sold for the past year only one, Baden, 2:05 1-4, can be figured as a bad loss.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Danny Goodman and Pat Brown have been signed to box at Superior, Wis., Dec. 23.

Mike Gibbons has been offered a $3,000 guarantee, by a Buffalo promoter, to box Jimmy Clabby Jan. 21. Bill McKinnon and Eddie McGorty will clash in a return bout on January 12, at Kenosha, Wis.

Nothing doing in the boxing line at the present time for Joe Mandot. Joe says that he is going to rest for quite a while.

Jack Britton, of Chicago, and Young Ahearne, the New York lightweight, will box before the Royale A. C., of Brooklyn, Christmas afternoon.

Fred Beckler, of New Orleans, who put up such a sensational bout with McDonald at the last National Amateur Championships in Boston, has entered the professional ranks.

Tom McCarey is trying to sign Kid Williams, the Baltimore bantamweight, for a 20-round bout with Eddie Campi, of San Francisco, the bout to be staged at Vernon, California.

Ad Wolgast wants $8,000 for his end, to box Frankie Burns and Burns wants the same amount. California promoters cannot see their way clear to put up so much money for a clash between the two boys.

Buy it in Jansville, and help your home town.

names of the leading educators of the state. Of the seventy-two city superintendents in Wisconsin only ten seem to be actively supporting the new aspirant for office. But four of the seventy-two county superintendents of Wisconsin have signed the nomination papers of Mr. Cary's opponent. Not one of the teachers of the twenty-seven county training schools is known to be other than favorable to the re-election of Mr. Cary, and of the three hundred eighteen principals of high schools and city graded schools only twenty-one names appear on the list. About one in ten of the members of the eight normal school faculties have signed the paper and not a single normal school president has expressed opposition to Mr. Cary. While it may be possible that many of the educators of the state are neutral in the matter, the fact still remains that the opposition to Mr. Cary has fallen flat as far as the educators of Wisconsin are concerned.

Mr. Cary deserves re-election on his record in advancing the educational interests of the state. He has fostered and increased the county training schools which are doing so much to advance the efficiency of the country schools. His administration has brought into existence the county agricultural schools have increased in number and efficiency throughout the years of his leadership. Industrial education has been brought into thirty cities of the state during the last years of his service in the schools. It would be a mistake which the educators of Wisconsin are quick to recognize to change superintendents at a time when a forward movement in education is so well begun.

The present status of the recall movement is a little difficult to determine. There is a rumor on the street that the promoters have about decided to abandon the fight on the commission, and if possible induce ex-Mayor Nichols to contest Mayor Patters' place. That might simplify matters. If that should turn out to be the program, the sooner it is done, the quicker. The campaign of education is still in full swing, and the finishing touches can be added, after the election is ordered. Public sentiment is fairly familiar with the issue, and the question might as well be settled first as last.

The progressive party will do well to wait for the developments of time before making any radical movements. The new president is something of a progressive himself, and he may be able to keep the country guessing, to its heart's content. Then the republican party still has a few ambitious leaders of the same type, and the demand for a third party, devoted entirely to the same doctrine, is really not very urgent. It would be cheaper for the financial backers, to keep the colonel in the wilds of the old world, hunting for big game than to have him at large in this country on a still hunt for another term.

No wonder that the price of eggs has been prohibitive, when the product for the past six months has been bottled up in cold storage. Chicago alone had 1,680,000 cases, bought during the spring and summer months, and the American hen, however industrious, was unable to compete with this kind of a corner. The four million dollar loss, sustained by the egg packers, will restore the market to normal conditions, and supply and demand will again regulate prices. The better investigation now going on should also produce wholesome results.

People who are interested in securing a first-class chautauqua, on a business basis, should not fail to attend the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building.

ing at 7:30 tonight. The preliminary work is already in hand, as the result of a meeting held yesterday, and with a little effort the chautauqua can be secured. The program offered for a six days' session, includes some of the best talent on the platform, and the musical numbers are exceptionally fine.

The sale of Christmas stamps should be encouraged. Every penny contributed, is for a good cause. Wisconsin is well to the front in fighting the white plague, and the money secured through the sale of Christmas stamps, has proved a valuable asset. Buy freely and help the good cause along.

For the first time in history the express companies have inaugurated an advertising campaign, in an effort to meet parcels post competition. This will be a good thing for the newspapers, and if intelligently conducted, will aid the companies in holding business.

Janesville's commission snuffed out the red lights and cleaned up a few places and now an attempt is being made to remove the city dabs by a retail. Evidently the commission is in first-class working order and successful.—Elkhorn Independent.

Could Shout For Joy.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at People's Drug Co.

"THE YELLOW PERIL"

"The Yellow Peril" for Lights and Shadows of Chinatown, a photo-drama in three long acts, is to be featured at the Royal Theatre tonight and tomorrow. This unusual play, with superb scenes laid in the Nob Hill section of the great Pacific Coast city as well as absolutely true views of the methemost depths of Chinatown bordering on the famous Barbary Coast is a startling exposure of the real menace of mixed marriages. It shows in convincing manner that when aliens of different blood acquire wealth and power in this country they aspire to intermarry with white families of position and distinction. It is a plea for legislation in every state whose laws are silent on the subject that will absolutely bar the inter-marriage of people of different blood, to the end that in the ages to come the American shall still be white. There are exciting events recorded in "The Yellow Peril," notably the underground battle by torchlight between the criminal Chinese and the officers of the law, and many strong scenes, but whether in the mansions of the rich or amid the underworld joints, the pictures still carry the same message, white women for white husbands.

CHAUTAUQUA PLANS*WILL BE DISCUSSED

Definite Action Toward Local Organization Will Be Taken at Maccs Meeting Tonight.

All persons who are interested in securing a sixty days' chautauqua program for Janesville next summer are urged to be present at the Y. M. C. A. building this evening when the committee named at the informal gathering yesterday will make a report on the matter of a local organization.

Thomas S. Nolan, who is chairman of the committee, states that the old chautauqua organization was incorporated and all that will be necessary is a revival of that company with an election of officers and the settlement of other details. The officers of the company will sign the contract with the National Lincoln association, thereby agreeing to sell 500 season tickets at $1.50 each. That is practically the extent of their financial obligation. Representatives of the chautauqua company will spend several days assisting in the sale of the tickets.

Mr. Dunn, who presented the matter at the meeting Tuesday, will be present tonight together with another official of the concern. It is probable that the preliminary arrangements will be disposed of at once.

PUBLIC SANITATION BROTHERHOOD TOPIC

"Public Health and Sanitation as Applied to Janesville" to be Discussed at Meeting Tonight.

"Public Health and Sanitation as Applied to Janesville," will be the topic discussed at the meeting of the Brotherhood of the Congregational church this evening. Dr. Fred Sutherland will preside. Dr. S. B. Buckmaster will speak on "Public School Sanitation," Health Officer Dr. M. A. Cunningham on "The City's Health, Its Laws and Regulations," and Miss Agnes Anderson, the Visiting Nurse, "On First Impressions of Janesville." William H. Dougherty will present the subject of "The New Hospital and Its Necessity to the Citizens of Janesville." A reception will be held at 6:15 o'clock and dinner will be served fifteen minutes later.

HELD A CONFERENCE AS TO CANDIDATES

Recall Advocates Committee of Ten Met This Afternoon to Discuss Situation.

Whether there will be a mass meeting of the persons interested in the recall movement this evening or not was undecided late this afternoon. The committee of ten appointed at the first meeting to decide on candidates held a session today to discuss the situation and may decide to postpone the meeting tonight until some later date. It has also been suggested that the present recall petition may be made to apply simply to Mayor Fathers and that John C. Nichols is being urged to make the race for mayor against him.

A Novel Memory Test.

To test the general knowledge and memory of its readers this newspaper will publish Saturday, Dec. 21, issue a remarkable composite illustration which includes thirty-three well known people whose portraits will appear constantly in the world's news.

Senders of the twenty nearest correct lists will each receive from this newspaper a reserved seat ticket to girdle the globe with Lyman H. Howe at the Myers Theatre, Wednesday, Dec. 25 and Thursday Dec. 26 matinee Wednesday.

Each portrait of the 33 in the illustration will be numbered.

All you need to do is to place numbers from 1 to 33 on one side of a sheet of paper and opposite each number write the name of the portrait to which the number refers. Then address your list to the Memory Test Editor, Janesville Gazette.

It will be well worth your effort to submit your list, because aside from the satisfaction to you of being able to name all or nearly all of the portraits, you will derive what is still more pleasing, i. e., a pictorial tour through Paris, Versailles, with its wonderful fountains and a trip along the picturesque rivers of France, all presented in the myriad hues and tints of nature. Then, too, there will be a thrilling race between a hydroplane and the swiftest motor boats in the world; a furious attack on a horse by a ferocious lion—the horse being saved from imminent destruction only by the calm, sure but quick aim of a hunter; the burial of the Maine; the bee industry; whaling and twenty other big features.

Do you recognize portraits of notable people when they appear in newspapers?

SCHEDULE OF GAMES HAS BEEN ARRANGED

High School Basketball Five Will Play Ten Hard Games Beginning January 10.

Captain Falter of the high school basketball team announces the schedule of games for the coming season. Ten contests will be played, six with teams in the Southern Wisconsin Basketball League, and the other four with outside teams in this section of the state. Coach Curtis acts favorably toward a game with the Alumni on January 10, in place of a possible game with Edgerton high school. The Alumni are a fast bunch of players this year, and would give the locals a better game than the tobacco city boys. Perhaps the hardest game of the season will be played against the Baraboo high school at that place on March 17. Beloit is scheduled with two games, the locals closing the season at the line city on March 14. The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 10—Alumni or Edgerton at Janesville.

Jan. 17—Whitewater Normal at Whitewater.

Jan. 24—Stoughton at Janesville.

Feb. 1—Evansville at Janesville.

Feb. 7—Beloit at Janesville.

Feb. 14—Jefferson at Jefferson.

Feb. 21—Fort Atkinson at Janesville.

Feb. 28—Lake Mills at Lake Mills.

Mar. 7—Baraboo at Baraboo.

Mar. 14—Beloit at Beloit.

The team met a hard practice last night, when the first team went against the second. The first team is not at all picked yet, but some of the fellows who are likely to make the squad played with them. Atwood, Dalton, and Ryan are logical candidates for the first team. There are but two more practices before the vacation.

MARINE FIREMAN TURNS UP IN LOCAL POLICE COURT.

Fred Mays, An Englishman, Who Claims New York City as His Home, Gets A Term In Jail.

Through a mistake in his routing or some strange evil turn of his fortune, Fred Mays, who claims to be a marine fireman and that New York is his home, found himself at the North-western depot last night "half seas over" as the result of indulging freely in sailor's grog. He was placed under arrest there and arraigned before Judge Fifield this morning, pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication. Not being able to pay a fine of $2 and costs he was sent to jail for five days. Mays' speech shows him to be an Englishman, and his erect carriage indicates that his claim to be a sailor is correct. From his reply to the judge's inquiries it would appear that he has been sailing on the great lakes for some time.

Hugh Stockman has appeared so frequently in the police court that he no longer explains how it happened and this morning merely accepted a sentence of twenty-five days in jail, after pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication.

Charles Clark was arraigned for a similar charge to which he pleaded guilty. In default of a fine of $2 and costs he went to jail for seven days.

AN EXCELLENT CAST IN "THE ONLY SON"

Thomas Ross and Able Company Present Strong Modern Drama at Myers Theatre Last Evening.

Winchell Smith's modern American drama, "The Only Son," as presented by Thomas Ross, in the title role, and an able company at the Myers Theatre last evening, portrayed human passions and emotions in an entirely realistic and artistic manner. Realism is a great test of the modern play, and in its direct human appeal "The Only Son," fulfills every requirement of that test.

The action of the piece is continuous revealing and unfolding a story of more than common interest. The situation centers about an estrangement between husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brainard, through an indiscretion on the part of the latter. The husband in a rage orders the wife from the home, but in her heart-broken leave-taking she is unexpectedly cared for and supported by her son, whom his father considers worthless and profligate. The daughter with a feeling of hate and revulsion and selfishly considering the shame which she believes will be brought upon her own head, takes sides with the father. The subsequent success of the son in his business undertakings and in his efforts to bring father and mother together is very carefully and effectively worked out. A pleasing love story also runs through the piece, which is not without subtle touches of the best comedy.

Mr. Ross in the part of the son had a difficult role which he played with ease and appreciation. He occupies the center of the stage during most of the play and the more important dramatic situations depend on him. His manner was at all times engaging and he received generous applause.

Lizzie Hudson Collier as the mother, Mrs. Brainard, was a strong character. She carried through the scene of her expulsion by her husband with true dramatic ability. Campbell Golan as Thomas Brainard, the father, proved the man for the part. A man of large and fine physique he plays the part of a type of self made American millionaire, who engrossed by business, has not had time to think of home affairs, and who is too willing to think of his own feelings when the tragedy comes. Mr. Golan acted with dignity and poise. His facial expressions were studied and added much to the interpretation of the character.

Eileen Enrol as Anne, the son's sweetheart, was charming and natural. Wallace Widdowson as Lord Overtonne interpreted the English fortune hunter subtly and humorously. To him is due much of the comedy element. The other members of the cast were first class actors. Miss Reed as Gertrude Brainard and Osborne, Searle as Chas. Lester, deserve mention for their excellent work.

PRONOUNCED BLAZE PURELY INCENDIARY

Inspector From Office of State Fire Marshal Came to This Decision After Examination.

That the fire discovered in the basement of the Bostwick building on Court street on Monday night was of unmistakable incendiary origin was the decision reached by an inspector from the office of State Fire Marshal who made an examination of the premises yesterday afternoon. He said the evidence of a criminal attempt was the plainest that he had ever seen. The inspector, whose name was not noted, arrived in the city from Madison soon after noon and left early in the evening. He interviewed Chief of the Department Klein, the owners of the building and all other interested parties. Further investigation with the object of discovering and prosecuting the incendiary will no doubt be carried on by the State Fire Marshal and his aides.

This sale is a direct appeal to people who know quality and want it. I can buy full-size, fine looking pianos, for $68. I could mark them up to $500 and then mark them down to $125 and a lot of people would fall for it. My reputation as a dealer in pianos of quality was not built upon that kind of business. The names of some of my pianos were familiar to your grandparents in their young days.

FREE! Duet Bench with music compartment. Highest quality. Double veneered. Car fare refunded to out of town customers. Free delivery to all points.

The only piano house in Rock county, Wisconsin, that has been publicly endorsed by Good Housekeeping magazine, the mouth-piece of the ex-United States Chief Chemist Dr. Wiley. Good Housekeeping agrees to refund all money lost by persons who buy goods from its advertisers and consequently they are very careful as to the advertising they accept.

FIRST PHOTOGRAPH OF WILSON IN BERMUDA.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson's arrival at Hamilton, Bermuda, on Nov. 18.

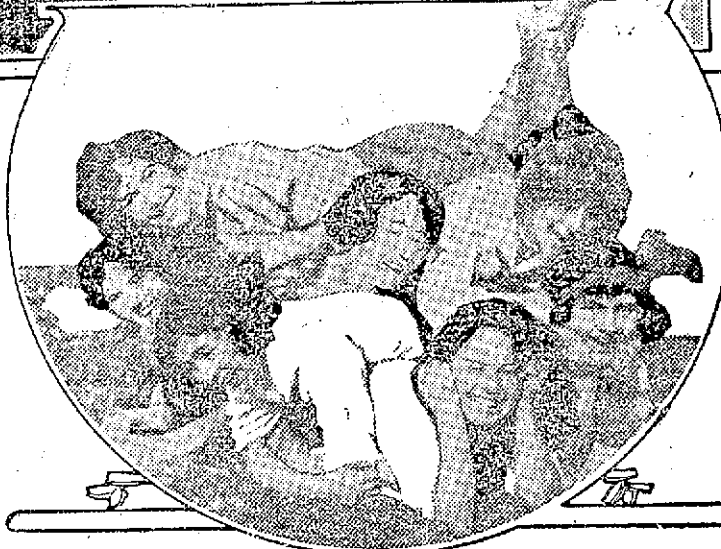

Here is the first photograph in the United States showing President-elect Wilson and the members of his family just after their arrival at Hamilton, Bermuda, on November 18. Gov. Wilson is responding to the address of welcome delivered by Mayor Wainright of Hamilton, (with silk hat), while the ladies of the party are seated in the open carriage. The crowds cheered the party for many minutes.

HOOSIER GIRLS KEEP RIGHT ON "HIKING"; BRAVE BLASTING BLIZZARDS AND WINTER'S WILD WAILING WINDS WITHOUT WORRY

Happy "Hikers" of Indianapolis.

Girls of the manual training school of Indianapolis have formed a walking club and are carrying out an ambitious program of winter "hikes" to many Indianapolis suburbs. They already have to their credit several walks of unusual length, and have proved in different ways that they are as red-blooded as they need to be. They brave blasting blizzards (or may when the blizzards do not) and are not to be frightened by a wailing wind. They fare forth armed with cameras and dressed in comfortable walking skirts and put the miles behind them with ease. It will be seen from the accompanying pictures that these girls are a healthy and a happy lot.

YANKEE SOJOURNER IN THE SOUTH SEAS MADE CHIEF FOR THE SAKE OF A DRINK; GIVEN NATIVE WIFE BUT DOESN'T KEEP HER

Frederick Bulkeley Hyde and his South Sea Islands "wife" (at the left); at extreme right Hyde is seen in chief's garb, accompanied by South Sea Islanders.

Frederick Bulkeley Hyde, millinaire clubman of Washington, recently returned from a sojourn among the South Sea Islands with a wonderful story of adventure. In one of the islands the natives had for many years been unable to elect a chief. Yet according to law and tradition they could not drink their favorite liquor except as a chief's guest. When Hyde arrived they decided to elect him to the headship of their tribe in order that they might have one glorious banquet. Hyde consented, was crowned, and all the natives as his guests drank their fill of the island's best beverage for the first time in fifteen years. The natives picked out the prettiest girl in the island and gave her to Hyde as his wife. He accepted the gift, but did not bring her back with him to Washington.

DO YOU?
The days' twist now an' New Years er gittin' mighty few:
Another leaf of life-hex turned, another opened up anew.
Is the old sheet you've been fillin' an' about to cast aside,
Full of words, an' deeds an' actions none of which you care to hide?

Do you ever let yer temper get the upper hand of you,
If you work a minute overtime do you fret an' storm an' stew?
If yer pickin' flaws in others, why flaws of course ye'll find,
But remember you've got your own full share, so don't be so unkind.
Another fault with many an' one we all despise,
Is the easy manner many have of tellin' others, lies,
The people that's a peddlin' them repeat them till, forsooth,

SIDEWALK SKETCHES. WHY WHO'S WHO. (By Howard L. Rann.)

ONE of the most interesting characters ever clamped firmly to the national pay roll is Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau. Mr. Moore's duties consist of telling what the weather will be day after tomorrow, and signing up a green voucher once a month. This looks easy, and it would be if the weather would stay in the same spot over night.
The first thing Mr. Moore does when he goes down to the office in the morning, is to guess out loud, in the general direction of the weather. Sometimes he has to take two guesses—one before and the other after, but there's so much weather in circulation that he is sure to hit it off somewhere. The closer Mr. Moore can get to the weather the more accurate is his aim, and he rarely misses the target entirely.
Despite his geniality of manner, Mr. Moore is one of the most unpopular men in the United States. Nobody thinks of giving a lawn social or opera concert or a lawn tennis tournament without seeing if Mr. Moore is liable to butt in with a thunder storm. Many a Sunday school picnic has been utterly ruined and dismantled because the superintendent chose a day which Mr. Moore agreed to have clear overhead and dry under foot, only to turn around and deposit six inches of rain in the wrong locality.
Mr. Moore entertains the utmost contempt for the long-distance prophet who can tell just what the weather is going to do before it gets a good start. Mr. Moore has a pair of good eyes himself, but he can't see more than forty-eight hours in the future to save his life.
Whenever Mr. Moore meets a brand of weather which he has not seen before, he calls it "generally fair" and then waits for results. This is a loose practice, and has caused many a picnic party to return home in low spirits, and several feet of fresh mud.
PORTER

Miss Mary Tierman is visiting relatives near Milton.

Miss Laura Haakinson visited last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Julseth.
Miss Lucile Earle and friend attended a party on Friday night given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darling in honor of their daughter Florence, who recently became the bride of Seth Pope.
A number of our residents were disappointed on Saturday evening when they arrived at Fulton, and learned that the concert was postponed.
Everyone in Porter is busy stripping tobacco which is a good crop this year.
Misses Jennie and Nora McCarthy spent Friday at Madison.
Louis Seep who went north to purchase cattle has returned home with a fine herd of them.
Dr. Cleary of Edgerton, was seen on our streets on Saturday.
C. W. McCarthy was a Stoughton shopper on Monday.
Leslie Viney spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. Owen Boyle, Jr.

The teacher and pupils of Eagle school will give a Xmas tree and entertainment, on Saturday evening, Dec. 21. All cordially invited.

Paul Handke is assisting with B. Ford's shredding outfit, when they started up again on Monday. They have about two weeks' steady work yet.

Teach Obedience.
Let children understand that disobedience is sure to be followed by punishment. A child seldom obeys Nature more than once in touching a hot lamp-glass. It will soon learn to obey you as well. Never allow it to ask why. You know; that is enough.

What Wisdom is.
Wisdom consists not in knowing many things; not even in knowing them thoroughly; but in choosing and in following what conduces the most certainly to our lasting happiness and glory.—Landon.

FORTY YEARS AGO

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

Young Bulger's here at home again, a-visiting a while. He made a hit back East and then began to put on style. He wrote a book that brought his name into the magazines, and now he's basking in his fame; he struts to beat the queens. He bangs his hair and wears a tie that jolts the village hard, a single window in his eye with gold chain by the yard. He tries to look like Byron and he talks a lot of Art; he's bound we all shall understand how smooth he is, and smart. I have no doubt.

AFFECTATION that Bulger thinks we look on him as sweet—but every village Solon winks when he goes down the street. The graybeards sit and gossip some hard by the common pump, and when they see young Bulger come, they say: "Oh, what a chump!" The women hold their sewing bees, the heathen hosts to drape, and when young Bulger past them, they sigh: "He's like an ape!" Young Bulger thinks he cuts a swath when in his brave array, when as he only stirs up wrath and mad desires to slay. Sane people have a bitter spite against the swelled up man; so if you can't be modest quite, be modest as you can.

Women Church Officers.

A woman has just been appointed church warden at Walsgram-on-Sowe in Warwickshire, England. She is the ninth woman to hold such an office in England. There is also one woman sexton in a small church in Lincolnshire. The office is hereditary and has been in her family for more than two hundred years.

Electricity to Season Wood.
Wood is seasoned in France by electricity.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

THE POET
He was a poet, with long hair and all, and for a time she was tickled to death at the novelty of holding hands with him on the sofa. But after a time she remembered that certain other fellows had made themselves interesting by taking her out and showing her a good time once in a while. She tried hints, but they went in one poetic ear and out the other like water off a duck's back, and the night our story opens she spoke right out.

"Algernon," she said, "Sunday night, when you came around, you wrote a sonnet to my left eyebrow, didn't you?"

"Yes, love, I did," he returned, putting one hand on his bosom to keep it from swelling with pride. "Yes, I did, but don't mention it; 'twas nothing, 'twas nothing."

"Tuesday night, when you called," she continued, "you composed a triol to my nether lip, didn't you?"

"Yes, love," he admitted, "I did. And didn't it ever occur to you," she said earnestly, "that a girl might sometimes wish for something more substantial?"

"Darling, you are right!" he cried. "This evening shall I write a ode in blank verse to your entire face."

She walked sadly to the foot of the stairs. "Father," she called regretfully, "put on your storm shoes and come down."

But, prithee, don't mention it, don't mention it."

"Wednesday night, during your call," she pursued, "you dashed off a roundel to my dimples, didn't you?"

"Yes, love," he smiled, "dashed off is good. But, there, there, don't mention it."

"And didn't it ever occur to you," she said earnestly, "that a girl might sometimes wish for something more substantial?"

"Darling, you are right!" he cried. "This evening shall I write a ode in blank verse to your entire face."

HIS RISE TO POWER

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER.
Author of "The Man Higher Up"
Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

For an instant the body swayed, then crumpled in a heap on the floor. Four stunned men, held in a horrible fascination, knelt by the ghastly thing, dumbly watching the struggle of that which is called life to free itself from its prison of flesh. Of these men, three of them, each in anguish, was calling himself murderer.

For nearly an hour—an eternity—shaken to the very center of their beings, they kept the death-watch. There was a shiver that passed over the whole body then stillness.

Half a minute to recover himself. He caught John by the arm and drew him away. "Come back here," he draw John into the office and forced him to sit down. "And you two, come." Murchell seemed to come out of his daze. He touched Hampden, who followed him docilely and fell into a chair.

"I seem to be the only one with a trace of sanity left. And I," said Haig grimly, mopping his brow with a shaking hand, "I am pretty far gone. God, I didn't know it could be so awful! But we've got to decide whether we'll let this—how and why it happened—come out. By some miracle nobody seems to have heard. If the luck holds we may be able to keep it quiet." He looked at Murchell.

"There's no use trying," he said wearily, "if you go ahead with this investigation." He turned to John. "It's for you to decide. If this is kept quiet and you don't go on I can save the bank—maybe. But if you do go on there'll be a great scandal and I can do nothing. And—you've got to understand the situation—you'll have to prosecute Hampden here."

John did not answer. He was staring at the face of Warren Blake. Haig mopped his forehead again. "Let's get out of here," he muttered nervously. "If I stay much longer with—that—I'll be a gibbering idiot." He took the dead cashier's keys from the desk, turned out the light and went to the door. The others followed.

They forgot to close the vault. But it was well guarded. New Chelsea had been long asleep.

one streets emptied, when Haig and Murchell, accompanied by the doctor and undertaker—stockholders in the bank and frightened into secrecy—drove a roundabout course by side streets and alleys to the rear door of the bank. Like thieves, they entered and carried what lay there, out to the carriage. Then they drove away, praying that no untimely passerby had chanced to observe them.

But the luck held. Later still, with another picture—a little, faded old woman become in an instant a foolishly smiling child—burst into their memories. Haig and Murchell emerged from the home of Warren Blake. Haig stopped, looking up.

"I wonder what John Dunmende is going through just now? I can see the end. The good have no luck. There's a curse on the man responsible for this night. Old man, do you say amen? You and I will have to discuss the matter of payment."

He caught the other by the shoulders, peered closely into his face and, laughing harshly, turned away.

Through a night that seemed endless a man fought a battle old as sin itself. He had sought the solitude of the fields in a blind, vain wish to escape the issue and the thing that filled his eyes. He had come so near to greatness.

And now, at an hour when he seemed most to need stimulus and support, he was brought face to face with the temptation to desert. It was one thing in a moment of disheartenment to cry, as he had cried to himself, "I have come to the end." It was far different when opportunity had come to revive a sinking cause to stay his hand. He knew he had, but to reach out to disclose, not an Excelsior rising out of the waters to lend invisibility to him who would yield it, but a new prod for a calloused people, one fact the more to add to the knowledge, whose cumulative power in the end would—must—carry the people forward, upward.

It was Hampden, Katherine and John Dunmende against the people. And what did he owe the people, the calloused fools whose knowledge, if not complete, was yet full enough to show them whether they were going and whether they must turn, but who trudged contentedly on, indifferent to all but the present profit, thinking only of self, repudiating and sneering at those who offered honest service and counsel? The balance was all against them and in his favor. Let some one else now take up the task to which John Dunmende had been unequal!

He saw Stephen Hampden cowering, a suddenly broken, fear-palmed man, before the death agony, looking with a kind of wishfulness on the dying man's face, as though, in Warren Blake's example he saw a way out of the tangle. A troop of miserable, pitiable figures marched before him—Slayton, Brown, Parsons, Sheehan, Blake—men whom he had punished, whose lives he had shattered or taken in his crusade—to what end? Their places had been taken by other men of like kind, the world no better, no wiser, so far as he could see. Behind the troop marched a regiment of men and women, his neighbors, whose little savings would be lost, did the bank fail through his disclosures, but might be preserved if Murchell's promise to tuterene was kept. Was there not more virtue in mercy than in punishment?

For long, in the fear of the man who knows himself weakening, he refused to face the crucial fact. But he had to come to it—to her—at last. He saw her as he had last seen her, the rose in bloom, a strong woman refined and softened by some heart process of which he knew nothing. If he went forward he must cloud the splendor and beauty of her womanhood with disgrace and suffering. He recoiled against the thought—why must she, innocent, and at his hand, be made to suffer the penalty that others had earned? Could he strike the blow? It made no difference that she had doubted him for unworthy things. As once before nothing that she could say had added to the temptation that lay in her very existence, so now nothing that she had done could take from the fact of his love. For it lived. He could find through the years in unceasing work an anodyne to deaden the ache, but on this Mount Olivet it lived again, a throbbing passion that submerged all things else. He had not the strength of God, he told himself. He could not be so merciless to her to himself.

He had homeward in the waning light and prayed feverishly for daylight. By his window, as once he had watched a dawn of promise, he saw it come, but without promise. At last, the battle ended, too tired to seek his bed, he fell asleep in the chair.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Vulnerable Heel.

JOHN was awakened by the ringing of a church bell.

It was a clear morning, the sun shining brilliantly. The pence of the Sabbath lay over all. Along Main street moved, with sedate stride, the weekly procession of churchgoers. Not even the news which they would receive in church, that Warren Blake had dropped dead of heart failure—grim jest—would disturb their gravity. For the news would be accompanied by assurances from Senator Murchell and Stephen Hampden that the bank would be to no wise affected.

John rose from his seat by the window and, obedient to the command of habit, made his morning toilet. When he was dressed he returned to the window. He was very tired. His will, as though worn out by the scene and struggle of the night, could not shake off the heavy mental and physical lassitude that oppressed him. Once he tried to recall the horror he had seen, but his inert mind balked.

With sluggish curiosity he watched the figure of a woman walking down the street. Not until she turned in at the gate did he recognize her. There was no glad start. On the contrary, a muttered, querulous protest escaped him. He did not wish to see her just then.

Reluctantly he rose and went down to the library. She was standing at a southern window through which the sun poured a golden flood. She heard him enter and turned. He halted just within the door. For a moment, silent, they looked at each other across the sunlit room.

It was she who, with the brave directness that had always been hers, first broke the silence.

"I have heard what—that happened last night. And I have come to ask you to do nothing that will harm my father."

Unconsciously his face darkened. It was not because of her request, but because of the picture she recalled. "I suppose it was for that. You have"—He would have said, "no need to ask." But she misunderstood and interrupted quickly.

"I have no right to ask this—or anything of you? I know that, more clearly than you can tell me. I put you in the way of unhappiness and then chose against you for things—for things of no value. It may give you some satisfaction to know that they are gone—though you can hardly believe that the taste for them went first."

"—my father and Senator Murchell, the men who will profit by your silence, deserve nothing at your hands, at anybody's. I can't pretend that they would show mercy to you. But my father, at least, is a broken man. Last night took away his courage. He believes that he is responsible for Warren Blake's"—

"No!" She saw him shudder and draw back. "No! I, with my rashness, am to blame for that."

"Ah! you mustn't say that." She took a step forward, eager in his defense. "I know what you've been through and how it must have given you the horrors. But you mustn't say that. Nobody could think it. You only did your duty. But I'm afraid for him. He is half crazed from fear and shock. I think—I couldn't endure many more nights like last night. I'm afraid. If it all comes out, he'll take Warren Blake's way out."

"Don't!" he cried roughly, as if in pain. "I've gone over it all." "I'm not trying to frighten you. And I didn't want to—to come to you." The steadiness was leaving her. She thought she saw in his lack of response a "hostile determination." "I have no right to ask a man—such as you are—to sacrifice himself, his conscience for such a man. I can offer you no adequate return. But he is my father and it is not—it cannot be so very wrong to err on the side of mercy. And once you said—you cared!"

"It was true. It has always been true! What I will do will not be because you ask it, but because it is for you. And not for a price. And—you haven't thought it out very clearly, have you?—what you mean is impossible in any case. If I went on with the investigation you couldn't love the man who was prosecuting your father." And, just because you understand what is right in the case and are what you are, you couldn't respect and so couldn't love the man who weakly did what was wrong for him—even for you. And just now—you are very anxious to save your father."

The flood of crimson ebbed. She looked at him strangely. "Do you believe—that?"

"I know it. But you needn't be afraid any longer. Your father is safe so far as I am concerned. That was settled before you came."

She turned from him in an immense, unaltered relief to look out of the window. The voice of the congregation rose again in the closing hymn, "O'ward, Christian Soldiers."

The hymn ended. She raised her head and, faced, blind, unshed tears in her eyes.

"John, Dunmende," she cried, "I don't know yet how much of what you have said is true. And I don't know whether you have been weak or strong. But there are fiercer things than the strength of heartless justice. One of them is—must be—to be merciful. To want to show mercy where you owe none, where you believe you can gain nothing, as you have done. I can't—I shan't try to thank you. But I shall always be praying for you all the good things you have earned as you go—and you will go—onward."

He merely repeated an old saying. "I haven't thought as far ahead as tomorrow. And now you'd better go before church lets out. If people say you here it might set them thinking." Warren Blake's body was buried and his tragedy with it. The luck had held to the last. No suspicion of a harking mystery had been breathed. And William Murchell returned from the funeral to a birth.

His enemies have called him lubman, lacking in moral sensibility. There are episodes in his career which support the charge. But deep down with in him had always laid something that, long preoccupied, now fought to win to the light. He was suddenly arraigned before himself, become by the tragedy most pitiless of judges. The rigorous mentality that had hungered and thirsted for action, lusted for sharp combat, sought incessantly for power and ever more power, now turned upon himself, with precise, merciless strokes dissected his life for him, revealed its essential ugliness, disclosed overlooked potentialities.

It was the evening after the funeral. He was alone in his library. But he was not reading. He was angrily watching the gathering of a belated force in his existence.

He frowned when from the hall came the sounds of altercation, heated on one side and coolly confident on the other. Then the door was thrown open, and Haig, followed by the protestant man servant, entered. The novelist briskly crossed the room and planted himself in a chair before Murchell.

The involuntary host greeted him jubilantly. "I told Jim I would see nobody tonight. What do you want?" "You remember, Saturday night I said you and I would have to discuss the matter of payment? The time has come, the walrus said."

"Well?" "Senator Murchell, have you a conscience?"

"Are you trying to be impertinent, young man?"

DINNER STORIES

Dr. Cyrus L. Cutler, the well-known Springfield surgeon, is a member of the Colonial Club, an institution that fines its members for talking shop. Dr. Cutler, getting out of his motor car, entered the Colonial Club the other day for luncheon, and, advancing into the restaurant, said to a lawyer, as he took off his goggles: "Well, old man, how are you?" The lawyer got Dr. Cutler fined then and there for talking shop. The next day, when he arrived at the club again for luncheon, the surgeon, angered at what had happened, cut the lawyer. The latter then had him fined once more.

Low Wages in Asia Minor.
Wages throughout the cities of Asia Minor are low. Carpenters get from 32 to 55 cents a day; bricklayers, 40 to 48 cents; and common laborers from 4 to 12 cents. Doctors charge 40 cents a visit and dentists 20 cents for pulling a tooth.

Why?
If it is true that the world has gone completely to the bow-wow, and that vice and corruption are in control, why is that our penitentiaries have no more attraction than they do for men who call themselves honest?

NATURE'S WARNING

Janesville People Must Recognize and Heed It.
Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature generally warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy. If there are settlements and sediment. Passage frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to fear serious kidney trouble. It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have done great work in Janesville. Benjamin Shallcross, 269 S. River St., Janesville, Wis., says: "Two years ago I had a great deal of trouble from inactive kidneys. The secretions from my kidneys contained sediment and were otherwise disordered. My back became so lame that it was difficult for me to stoop or lift and I became all run down. After using Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, these symptoms of kidney complaint disappeared and I enjoyed much better health. I could not be induced to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills were I not certain of their merits." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. ## LOS ANGELES POLICEWOMAN SAYS EVERY CITY SHOULD HAVE LADY COPS ON FORCE

That every city should have one or more policewomen is the firm belief of Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, who has the distinction of being the only policewoman in the world and is now on the Los Angeles police force as a regular policeman.

Mrs. Wells, clad in her natty uniform, which she designed herself, is now visiting large cities in the United States and gathering information on prisons for women and women prisoners.

At The Theatre

"LYMAN H. HOWE."

All nature lovers who find "sermons in stones and books in the running brooks," may safely anticipate a most delightful excursion with Lyman H. Howe at the Myers Theater, December 25 and 26, matinee Wednesday, December 25 when he will pilot them through some of the most picturesque rivers of France. These scenes are particularly notable for the wondrous reproduction of the natural colors. All those subtle, delicate tints of nature which are so indescribable will be seen in a pictorial trip of idyllic beauty. Not a single harsh or discordant combination of color appears anywhere. The same may be said of the reproduction in actual color of the historic palace of Versailles and a tour through Paris, "The City Beautiful."

Following the burial of the Maine, the bee industry, a thrilling race between a hydroplane and an 800 horse power motor boat in the harbor of Monaco and, an exciting adventure with a ferocious lion are only a few of the other features on a program that is entirely new, excepting only that amazing botanical study entitled "The Birth of Flowers," which Mr. Howe will present again in response to popular demand. No other reproduction that he has ever presented has elicited such numerous requests for another presentation and it is in deference to this wide demand that he offers his patrons another opportunity to peer into one of nature's greatest secrets.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE"

The management of the Myers Theater announces "The Great Divide" as the attraction for Sunday December 22, matinee and evening. At last the playgoing public of Janesville is to be given the dramatic treat so long awaited and so eagerly looked forward to; the most moving drama of many seasons; a masterpiece of playwriting, "The Great Divide." This beautiful offering from the pen of the foremost of America's youngest poets, William Vaughn Moody, comes to us recommended by the leading dramatic journals of the United States; as the most absorbing, intensely human play ever produced. The production is handsome and complete in every detail. The atmosphere of the picturesque West is faithfully created.

"The Great Divide" is under the management of C. S. Primrose whose past record for furnishing plays of the highest order of entertainment has earned for him the title of "The Young Belasco of the West."

"The Thief," one of the best offerings on tour in the West this season, is also owned by this enterprising young producer.

Labor.

If it were not for labor men could neither eat so much nor relish so pleasantly nor sleep so soundly nor be so healthful nor so useful, so strong nor so patient, so noble or so untempered. —Jeremy Taylor.

On the Installment Plan.

One day Robert said, "Uncle Bill, how much do you want for those pups?" "Oh, about $2 apiece," was the reply. "But, Uncle Bill," said Robert, "what could I do with a piece of pup?" —The Delineator.

It Would Seem So.

The subjoined item appeared in a French newspaper: "There was found in the river this morning the body of a soldier cut to pieces and sewed up in a sack. The circumstances seem to preclude any suspicion of suicide."

GIVE DEMONSTRATION OF THE "STENOTYPE"

Possibilities of Wonderful Machine For Taking Dictation Shown At Janesville Business College.

Demonstration of the "Stenotype," the new machine that can take down dictation almost faster than the average man can think and twice as fast as the most rapid stenographers was given a demonstration at the Janesville Business College yesterday afternoon and evening, by J. L. Sweeney and Miss Snoddy, representing the manufacturers, the Universal Stenotype Company, of Owensboro, Kentucky. The highest speed record of the afternoon was 592 words in one minute, and new matter was reported by Miss Snoddy at speeds from two to three hundred words a minute with ease. The best shorthand record is 267 words a minute, and the speed of the average stenographer is only about a fourth of this figure.

The Stenotype weighs less than eight pounds and can be carried about as easily as a lunch box. It has a keyboard like that of a type-writer, but has only twenty-two keys. The basis of its operation "and recording" is phonetic spelling. Unlike the typewriter, however, which requires a separate stroke for each letter, the Stenotype prints a chord of several letters at each stroke, on an average a word at each stroke instead of the six strokes required on the average by a typewriter.

This is accomplished by the peculiar system of dividing the keys. Seven of them, at the left of the keyboard are used as initial consonants, and as there are only fourteen possible initial consonants the other seven are supplied by arbitrary combinations of these seven letters, it being easily possible to strike two letters with one finger. It was invented by H. S. Rand of Atlantic City, New Jersey, a former government court reporter. The company manufacturing it is capitalized at $1,500,000.

Courses of instruction in the use of the Stenotype, which it is predicted will ultimately displace stenography for most dictation, are taught at the Janesville Business College, which was one of the earliest schools to recognize and introduce the new machine.

The Artistic Behr Piano

arrived Saturday direct from the manufacturers, New York City.

The BEHR BROS.' piano stands exceedingly high in the musical world, so claimed by all leading artists. It has occupied a prominent position in the concerts of New York, Philharmonic society, and the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and abroad it has also been recognized in artistic circles, for it occupies a position of honor at the Imperial Conservatory of Music at St. Petersburg, Russia, of which the late Anton Rubinstein was director.

At Expositions Behr Pianos Have Won Their Full Share of Honors

at New Orleans in 1885, The Artistic Behr won the highest award; at Melbourne, Australia in 1888, and at Chicago World's Fair in 1893, so it will be seen that honors have been fairly won by the Behr piano, honors which would have been impossible had the instrument not possessed true merit.

We Also Have The Famous Bjur Bros. Piano

noted for its beautiful tone quality which appeals to all talented musicians. Still another high grade piano known as the Schaff Bros. has just arrived which has a fine sweet tone. Yes, and we have the wonderful Waldorf Piano with a quality of tone hard to beat for the money. Other pianos also, we have in stock. Our piano line is now complete and a better line for quality cannot be found in the city or state.

It's not necessary now to go to Chicago, Milwaukee or New York city to purchase a piano of quality, for we have them in our store equal to any, regardless of name, we are careful in our selection and have spent many years in careful buying only those pianos which will give entire satisfaction. We extend a special invitation to all lovers of music, to come in and test our pianos, and see if our pianos are not better than our little talk to you on paper.

"Tell Me What a Boy Does at Night and I'll Tell You What He Does During the Day."

These were the words of the late H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil Co., and Rogers used to go to the night-schools for his "good timber." The boy with the "Night School Habit" can't be kept down by all the King's horses and all the King's men. He's the fellow that has gritted his teeth, clenched his fist and pounded on the table, determined to get out of the "Rut of the Unlearned."
